Dear Dylan,

This sidewalk is a high bicycle traffic area. When two cyclists are crossing each other, I think having a fence so close to the sidewalk is likely to make the rider closest to the fence lose his or her comfort or equilibrium. There is something reassuring for a cyclist knowing that there is an air space between them and a rider going the other direction. The drawing looks like the fence is 2'-0" from the sidewalk. I think more space is needed. Also if two dog-owners are crossing each other, they need room to keep the dogs on opposite sides of the sidewalk.

Please pass this along.
